Employee Communication – 7/2/2020

“Yesterday Governor Wolf issued guidelines making masks mandatory in all public spaces in Pennsylvania. Residents are required to wear a mask when leaving home and maintain social distancing of at least 6 feet with people outside of their household. These two initiatives will hopefully help slow the recent increase in cases across the state.

Looking ahead, the additional $600 in unemployment benefits through the CARES Act will end at the end of July. The last week to receive this benefit will be for the week of July 25, 2020. If you are still out of work or working reduced hours moving into August, continue to file your biweekly claims because you will still be eligible for the regular weekly benefit amount.

Finally, the application for rent and mortgage relief through that CARES Act has been made available. If you feel this may apply to you or someone you know, please visit www.phfa.org and click on the red CARES banner to apply.

Stay safe and remember to wear a mask in public. Enjoy the Holiday weekend!”
